

AY41C

Our ship has sailed for many years
O'er the briny deep.
Right carefully have we prepared,
This Log, so all may keep.
A record of our deeds and sighs
Now that good-bye's arise.

For now our ship has come to port,
And to the dock we've safely tied.
So now's the time for our report
Of things we've done and things we've tried.

Herein you'll find our feats and fears,
Pictures droll and jokes for tears,
You'll wonder how we did so much
In one short cruise, but luck was such.
That Mr. Hart was our good friend
And guided us from start to end.

Our Log

Extracts from the Log Book

Definition: A "Log Book" is a record of a ship's daily progress—Webster. School life is in reality a voyage. There are dangerous reefs (dishonesty) to be avoided, treacherous seas (examinations) to be safely passed over, and in the distance there is a goal (diploma) to be reached. Hence our Senior Paper is fittingly named "The Log", in which is recorded the history of the class and its achievements.

September, 1920—Excellent weather. The Class of June, 1924, enters the good ship Barringer. We sign up for a four-year voyage and are optimistic for the future.

October, 1920. Weather not so excellent. On the main deck of our good ship we are accorded a reception at which Mr. Stearns, our Captain, presided. We are introduced to our future companions. First, the haughty Sophomores; second, the knowing Juniors, and third, the awe-inspiring and dignified Seniors. We enjoy ourselves immensely but feel our regard for ourselves considerably lowered when we see so many bright people about us.

November, 1920—Our Captain, Mr. Stearns, gives us good advice. He tells us the right way to pilot our ship through all dangers and we listen with open hearts and willing ears.

December, 1920. The weather considerably colder. Clouds appear in the horizon. Those awful Sophomores will not stop annoying us!

January, 1921—Oh! the dangerous reefs have come! We must do some skillful piloting to pass the treacherous waters safely! The weather: First storms, then sunshine.

February, 1921. The ordeal is over. We are promoted from the position of common voyagers to a higher rank. We are now "upper Freshmen." On with the ship!

February-June, 1921. Easy sailing marred only by examinations, tests, detention, and the like. The first year of our voyage is over.

September, 1921; June, 1922—Oh! We are Sophomores at last; Now we can wreak vengeance upon those unfortunate Freshmen below us. All comes to him who waits.

We are sad to relate that a few of our number were not able to keep up with our pace and therefore are put back into a lower rank.

We look forward with delight to the next year, when under the guidance of the ship's mates, we shall organize and thus be brought more closely together.

September, 1922—Sky clear and sea smooth. Our good ship carries us toward port.

October, 1922—Weather fair. We, the passengers, listen with interest to the advice of Mr. Hart, our pilot, who has been chosen by the ship's company. With intent ears, all hear the reading of an important paper, our constitution.

Special call to the main deck. From our company, the following were chosen: First mate, Fred Breithut (president); second mate, Adelaide Griffin (vice-president); ship's clerk, Eleanor Albrecht (secretary), and purser, Edward Warburton (treasurer).

November, 1922—Weather unsettled. Although our vessel rocks, we anticipate a dance despite the ups and downs of our good ship.

November—Ship's bells. We hasten to assemble. Our pilot with the first mate explains the plan for the dance: "3 B Steppin' Out Hop."

December, 1922—Weather cloudy. Wind high. Committee is appointed to select class colors.

January, 1923—Sea rough, storm predicted. Gold and Black are announced as class colors. Let them float to the breeze!

February, 1923—Sea calm. Our ship continues its voyage. Again the passengers select the following: First mate, Fred Breithut; second mate, Adelaide Griffin; purser, Edward Warburton, and ship's clerk, Elizabeth Taylor.

April, 1923—Weather fair. Our ship keeps its accustomed speed. Final meeting of the year.

May and June, 1923—Air chilly, fog in distance. Ship nears an iceberg (exams). Danger ahead.

September, 1923—A sea like glass. Few succumbed to the chilling atmosphere of the iceberg. Passengers are the awe-inspiring and dignified Seniors. With Wesley Tillou as our first mate, Fred Breithut, second mate; Dorothy Pearce, ship's clerk, and Aulsip Wann, purser, the ship sails on.

September, 1923—Because Dorothy Pearce was transferred to another ship, Ida Slater is chosen as ship's clerk (secretary). Class rings are chosen. 4-B Hallowe'en dance is planned.

November, 1923—Sea calm—sunshine. Still onward we sail. 4B-4A reception committee is appointed.

December, 1923—Storm in sight. Danger ahead! (exams). After the storm, fair weather.

February, 1924. Clear weather—smooth sailing. Passengers choose Wesley Tillou as first mate, Adelaide Griffin, second mate; Helen Olwine, ship's clerk, and Aulsip Wann, purser. A committee for suggesting names for the Senior Acropolis is appointed and likewise the 4A-1B reception committee. Special meeting is called for the purpose of selecting the name for the Senior number. "The Log" is the decision.

March, 1924—Weather fine—sea like a mirror.

By vote it is decided to give a series of three plays in co-operation with Mr. Crosse and the Thalias. The date, April 25, 1924. The profits are divided equally. Dance committee is appointed, date, May 8, 1924.

April, 1924—Weather excellent. 4A class accepts the reception invitation of the 4B's. May 27 is fixed upon as Baby Day. A committee is appointed to procure and plant a tree as a gift from the class to Barringer.

We are nearing the harbor. Our good ship has carried us through many rough storms; we have passed many shoals, and dangerous reefs; over calm seas and under sunny skies; we have sailed. Joyous the thought, the harbor is near! As we stand crowded upon the deck, eager for the first sight of the goal, we turn to our good captain, Mr. Stearns, who has bravely guided our ship through the long voyage, and to him we give a hearty cheer. To our pilot, Mr. Hart, and to the members of the crew we also express our gratitude. But look! What do we see? At last! At last! We behold the Statue of——Freedom? Slowly our ship enters the port, our colors unfurled to the breeze, and with a shout we disembarked, realizing the voyage is ended. With a clasp of the hand and perhaps a sigh of regret that the time of parting has come, we bid farewell to the companions of our voyage.

"Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate,
As we voyage through life:
'Tis the set of the soul
That decides the goal,
And not the calm or the strife."

The Cruise of the "Twenty-Four"

AS THE hour of noon approached, the crowd gathered about the dock grew most restless and excited. For was not the palatial steamer "Twenty-Four" to start this morning on its maiden voyage around the world? And there was yet another cause of excitement on this bright June morning in 1940—this was the largest ship to leave the new docks in Branch Brook Park.

Ding! Dong! Dong! Came the brazen notes of the ship's bell as Lutz, the Officer of the Deck, touched a button. The last of the cargo of Puppy Biscuit from Bob Goldstein's factory was swung on board and the gang plank had started on its upward journey, when a Herold Automobile Horn was heard and a big shiny Carr Roadster came to a stop at the dock. Out jumped Spann and, frantically waving his suitcases, ran for the boat. He caught the end of the gangplank as it was raised aloft by its electric hoist and fell a wriggling heap in the midst of a group of passengers, waving their farewells to those on shore, among whom was "Tubby" Shapiro, the famous tight-rope walker. The boat was free from the pier.

Just then Port Inspector Boese touched my arm and said: "How would you like to go along, Bill? We can get on as she goes through the locks of the Morris Canal at Port Newark." We jumped into his Levine Car and sped like a comet down past the New High School where Ed Speiser is principal and where Irma Weiss, Lottie Friedman and Helen Rice teach the 1B's their ABC's.

On and on the car flew until as we were passing the Pogash & Pollack Candy Co. we heard an explosion and found ourselves with a flat tire and two minutes in which to reach the ship.

"Don't worry, old man," said Boese, "just watch this new McGovern Tire Changer. So saying, he pressed a button and in less time than it can be said, a new tire was in place and we were on our way.

We reached the lock just as Henry Krieg was opening the gates to let the boat pass through. We stepped into an elevator and were speedily placed on deck. Having no staterooms we went in search of the Purser. On the way we passed Harry Stein, the Chewing Gum Magnate, and Warren Brundage, the noted author of many joke books.

The Purser, Aulsip Wann, after supplying us with staterooms, introduced us to Captain Tillou and First Mate Griffin. Then, as his duties called, he had to leave us. We wanted to play Mah-Jongg, so the Captain called in the Second Mate, Helen Olwine. Tiring of the game, I expressed a wish to see the new electric turbines that propelled the ship, so the Captain called Fred Marinaro. To my great surprise in the engine room I saw Arthur Brown oiling the machinery with Danny Crecca, Chief Engineer, bossing the job.

When my curiosity had been satisfied it was dinner time, so we went to the Dining Salon, which, by the way, was decorated by Anna Andrews. As soon as the meal was finished we hastened on deck.

Safely ensconced in Rissland steamer chairs, Irma Berry, the cartoonist, and I watched New York fade in the distance. Then we turned our expectant gaze forward towards "Champagne Row," where Magill and Pavia have their offices. We knew we were near it for we saw the Revenue Cutter E. Grimes, in command of Captain Reale, looking for stray lawbreakers. However, it grew dark before we reached "Champagne Row", so we went below.

There, a fine radio program was coming in under Rice's direction from Station BHS, so we sat down to listen. The first part of the program was by Robinson & Koflen's Jazz Orchestra. They played "Barringer Blues," by Peggy Blake; "Yes, We Have No Pretzels," by Constance Hedden! "Though Chalk Erasers Come Your Way," by Evelyn Hopping, and "The Lunch Room Crush," by Gertrude Riley. We then heard a lecture on "The Flapper of Long Ago," by Prof. Elizabeth Northrup of Abraham Brown's famous private seminary. When this was over we retired to our comfortable and capacious staterooms.

We reached London about six in the afternoon and found it was raining. We, therefore, called a Barney International Taxicab. Being mighty hungry we traveled to the well-known Meisel & Rupprecht Restaurant for dinner, where we dined with Flo Seligman. After dinner it seemed only right that we should go to see our old friends, Flo Levy and Howard Jacobson, who were playing the leading roles in the 1940 Jollities at the Crogan Theatre. On our way to the theatre we met Scuorzo and Strasser. At the theatre we sat in front of Frank Weiland and Joseph Goldenberg, who told us that they were sailing to France the next day, so we all arranged to go together. After the performance we made our way to the door, where we encountered David Trauth, the florist, and Herbert Taylor, a member of the House of Lords, and Irma Billig, the linguist, discussing the performance with enthusiasm. We left London very early next morning in a Farrow Limoplane. Among the new passengers were Sylvia Guarino, the dramatic critic, and Robert Mayer, a chiropodist. I watched the loading of the new cargo. I saw a harp labeled for Elizabeth Blewitt, the famous harpist, and a load of Iris Veyer hair nets bound for Africa, and Restaino Music Rolls bound for Switzerland.

The journey across the channel was surprisingly pleasant, for when we were half way across, we saw Esther Neiss, Peg Fannan and Irving Fastow, who were swimming with all their might. Because I had read the event in Kolba's Weekly Magazine, I knew the swimmers were trying to win the international championship, and incidentally the million-dollar award to be granted by Bud Maring and Bill Kempf, both millionaires. We landed at Havre, where Ruth Kirschner's cargo of Banana Oil was deposited in exchange for a load of Breitsprecher Waterproof Sieves, which were brought on. Although some of our passengers left us at this point, we were glad to find among those newly enrolled, J. Shaw, A. Crecca, Sam Lipstein, the famous troupe of impersonators led by Max Speiser, all of whom were trying out Dr. Rosenberk's Seasickness Preventative.

We boarded a small tug boat, whose captain was S. Caprio, and landed at Paris. In this city we were shown the massive factory of Blasi, Barnett, Bauz & Co., famous makers of tire-proof, wearproof, corn-proof shoes invented by J. Guss and A. Belino. While walking along the Boulevard, we were surprised to see Lucia Sickles on her way to the Rexroth & Schell Shoppe of Women's Apparel, where she acted as a model. At this shoppe, she told us, they sold dresses exclusively designed by Olive Petry.

We soon took passage for Spain. We landed at Cadiz to spend the few hours at our disposal. The city was in a great hubbub of excitement, for people were rushing to see the greatest Bull Fight ever held. Having never seen one, our interest was deeply aroused, so we followed the crowd. As soon as we were seated, we looked around to see the other spectators. Then we saw L. Del Russo, W. Miller, M. Mayo, J. Winetraub, J. Procaccini, D. Kaplan, F. Johns, who were full of enthusiasm. Forest Poag, the toreador, was the hero of the day. We left the great spectacle, and were hurrying back to our ship when all of a sudden we saw B. Paskow and J. Resnick. They were both holding important positions in the E. Shapiro and Vitale Restaurant, where it was their business to translate menus for ignorant Americans. They told us that E. Heineken, R. Cooke, C. Calasabetta, N. Wallace, were waiters and that Cetrulo held the important post of cashier. When we again boarded our ship we found that the cargo had been changed and a load of Zarra, Rizzolo, Woodham hair-bobbing machines were to be taken to the Sultan for his harem. Cinfi, Chenoweth, Hardy, and Fischer, new members of the Spanish nobility, joined us at this time for they wished to gain some information at Constantinople for their new book: "How Fleischmann and Centanni Grew from High School Students to the Lofty Position of Billboard Posters."

The ancient city of Constantinople! After a most charging voyage I was in Turkey. Turkey and all its harems! I was casually and listlessly walking along a narrow street when something bumped me an awful blow on the back. I turned and saw Ella May Forster, Eleanor Albrecht, and Marguerite Lozier, the offenders. They certainly seemed glad to see me and insisted that I go home with them because they were giving all of their husbands a party that night. I wasn't very anxious at first but some more of our party came along, so we all went to the beautiful home. There we met William Brennan, Albert Harden, Henri Drucquer, Arthur Magill, Louis Schneider, and Robert Anthony. Well, I stayed in Constantinople for one day. When I was waving "good bye" to the old city and my friends I lost my balance and almost fell, but instead I knocked against Amy Elin. I was certainly sorry to inconvenience anyone but I was mighty glad to see her. Stephen Billington and Jessie Bellingham, who were also on the boat, were on their way to Africa to do missionary work. They were very much disturbed because two ukeleles had been lost in the transference of the cargo. Our conversation drifted to Egypt. Someone told me that Condit, Coult, and Parry were doing research work in the deserts of Egypt. Someone else added that Sam Owen was U. S. Ambassador to that country. But I was most astonished to hear that Louise Nazarete owned an aeroplane route from Central Africa to Alexandria. During the time that I was finding out all about our old friends I was speedily nearing China.

When we reached Hongkong, China, our cargo was exchanged for one of Rosamilla Harmless Opium, being 2.75 per cent. pure. This wonderful reform in the opium trade was brought about by Mary McBarron, who worked tirelessly for this worthy cause. Upon landing we visited the office of Mary Tortoriello, our Ambassadors to China. She advised us to go to the American Quarter of the city. There we saw Helen Nutty, Nicholas Ciccone, and the Prince of Siam.

I hastened back to the ship and we were bound for the good old U. S. A. I arrived in Palm Beach early in the morning and went immediately to the Colarusso Hotel, which was managed by Irene Coburn. In the elevator I met Mibs Huff, a prominent broker in Wall Street, who introduced me to her private secretary, Genevieve Smith. After I had gone to my room and washed up a bit I went for a stroll. Whom should I meet but Jerome Orange and Clara Rosenstein, instigators of the "Canary Cut-Up", the latest dance step. That night I sailed for New York.

We made a speedy trip up the coast. When I awoke it was daylight so I started for a stroll about the deck. I met Carl Arenander and together we watched the horizon grow into New York. I turned to speak to Wann, the Purser, about my stateroom, when I heard a surprised exclamation from Carl. I looked around and, seeing his wrapt expression, I gazed ahead. The Statue of Liberty was gone; and in its place was an immense bronze figure of Mr. Stearns with a diploma in his hand in place of a torch. "The principal of principals" gazed down on us with his usual benign expression—quite natural, we thought, and hurried to tell Crowe and Dutton, the bankers.

At this juncture our conversation was interrupted by Jackson, the Oil Magnate, who called our attention to the high-powered yacht just leaving the harbor. This boat proved to be the "August 24". We hastened to the Radio Room and heard Captain Tillou talk with Captain Stern of the "August." Stern said that he was ably assisted by First Officer Legge and Second Officer Borut. Bergoffen is his Chief Engineer, cook, deck hand and errand boy.

Among his passengers were Josephine Dugan, the farmer; Milton Gordon, the Clothier; Lemongello, the Olympic Champion, and Lottie Sorotsky and Gertrude Handler, the present owners of "Barnum and Bailey." We wished them a safe voyage and went out on deck to watch the skyline.

We saw the new Kinney Building and the McCoy Building, which has radio controlled elevators. Both of these buildings had been put up since our departure by the Schlesinger Corporation.

As we came to dock, Elizabeth Taylor, the Editor of the New York Papers, Inc., pointed out some noted people in the throng that gathered to meet the ship. There was Catherine Roberts, "the Princess of Wall Street," and Elizabeth Robertson and Vera Sherwin, the aviators. I saw so many familiar faces that—

I rolled over and—BUMP!

I fell out of bed.

I hit the floor very unceremoniously and awoke to find it not June, 1940, but June, 1924, and the day College Entrance Exams begin.

Strange that I should dream so after the XVIII Amendment.

EXPERIENCE

In Latin class the other day,
Bacchus, God of wine, held sway
The lesson was progressing fine
When Taylor thought it was the time
To ask some questions of a stude,
Who thought this assault rather rude.
"In what condition," Taylor asked,
"When he through Midas' kingdom passed,
"Was our friend, Bacchus ever spry?"
To this the pupil made reply:
"Why, drunk of course, with pure grape wine."
"Use some word that is more fine,
"If you would like to get a nine."
"Come, hurry up now, make it snappy."
Well, if he was drunk, II'd call him
happy."

II.

We're all good sailors, brave and true,
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four;
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four.
 To our dear flag of white and blue,
 The Freshmen bow their heads to the fore,
 As the Senior Ship sails from the shore,
 On life's long quest for honors more.
 The skies are blue, the waters bright;
 They cast their rays on us tonight,
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four.

III.

We leave this school, We've done our best;
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four;
 To further the work, we leave the rest,
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four;
 Tradition tells of vict'ries untild,
 Of mighty captains, brave and bold,
 Who helped to fill our trophy hold;
 To Alma Mater we pledge our praise,
 Our flag of white and blue we raise,
 And shout aloud our conquering phrase,
 Yo-Ho-Ho, June, Twenty-four.

WESLEY "PETE" TILLOU

"Pete" is one of the many good athletes turned out at Barringer. The first time that he represented Barringer was in 1922 when he played center on the varsity football team. In 1923 he played the same position. But he did not confine himself to football, but also tried baseball in '22, '23, '24; tennis in '22; track in '24. He will, furthermore, represent the school in the City Gymnastic Meet in May.

WARREN BRUNDAGE

Warren Brundage reported for football in the fall of 1923, his first year in Barringer. His speed, weight and ability to follow the ball placed him far above the other candidates for the right end position. During the entire season he played a wonderful game at this position; but it was in the East Orange game that he rose to his greatest height. In this game, he scored two touchdowns and played a bang-up defensive game. He received a gold football along with the rest of the team.

After Christmas, Warren reported for indoor track and ran in the dashes all of the season.

Now that spring is here, he is hard at work on outdoor track. He is not confining himself to the dashes, however, but is working on putting the shot, hurling the discus, and throwing the javelin. During the meets that have already been run he has aided the Big Blue very materially and will probably do a great deal more during the rest of the season.

BUTLIN CENTANNI

Butlin Centanni reported for baseball in the spring of 1921. During that season he played a good game at shortstop. The next two seasons, however, he concentrated upon his studies. Now, in his last year, he is back on the team, playing his usual bang-up game. He is playing most of the time at short-stop, but occasionally he is called on to catch, which job he holds up equally well. He is one of the hardest hitters on the team this year and his fielding is on a par with the best of them.

HOWARD JACOBSON

Howard Jacobson made his first appearance as a Barringer man in Track, 1923. He ran as a junior in the low hurdles, earning his second team emblem. He again ran indoor track in 1923. During the outdoor season he became assistant manager of the track team. In 1923, fall season, he ran cross-country, earning his script letter "B". In 1924 he became manager and received his major emblem.

DAVID KAPLAN

David Kaplan, a member of our class, made himself notable during his high school career as a pitcher and fielder on the baseball team in 1922. In 1923 he again pitched, and received his varsity emblem.

"SOLLY" CAPRIO

"Solly" Caprio made his first appearance in a Barringer uniform when he reported for baseball practice in the spring of 1922. During that season he played a first class game behind the bat besides being one of the best hitters on the squad.

The next season, he again played behind the bat. He had quite a job holding the terrific speed of Jack Wiebe, but far outclassed all his adversaries. This team won the New Jersey Interscholastic Championship and all of the "B" men received good-looking gold baseballs.

This season Solly is hitting the ball far and away and is covering left field like a carpet.

IRVING FASTOW

Irving Fastow answered the call for baseball candidates in 1922 and played in right field. In 1923 he alternated between outfielder and pitcher. He also played soccer in '23. In 1924 he again played outfield and pitched, earning his varsity emblem.

"BUFF" LEMONGELLO

"Buff" Lemongello is one of those boys who never know when they have had enough. For three long years he worked hard as a varsity substitute. Occasionally he would get into a game, but usually he would sit on the bench and watch the other men work. But he kept at it, however, and in the last East Orange game was unexpectedly called upon to fill in a place left vacant by the injury to one of the regulars. He went into the game and rose to unexpected heights. He received his "B" and a gold football for his good work. Virtue will receive its reward.

In 1921, he did some work in track, but let it slide after that.

FLORENCE CARR

Florence, who is one of Barringer's best athletes, has played a very prominent part in girls' sports. When a Freshman she played Basketball and made a fine start. Florence also played an important part in Hockey in '21, '22, '23. But it was during this year that Florence shone most brightly. She was a very great asset to the Senior Basketball Team while playing guard. Last but not least "Flo" is a gym captain and will probably get a Senior Cord.

"PEGGY" BLAKE

Surely everyone has heard of our famous athlete, "Peggy." As a freshman, sophomore and junior she reported for basketball and made a very fine player. While a junior, "Peg" decided to try hockey, and at this game she surely did shine, for she was elected captain of the Senior Hockey Team, which made a fine showing under her leadership. When it came to the choosing of gym captains, "Peggy" was one of the first chosen. It is more than likely that she will be awarded a gym cord this year.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth is one of the best known girls in Barringer. She has always taken great interest in her gymnasium work and thus earned her cords. When the time approached for the election of gym captains, she was one of the first to be chosen. Elizabeth also took an active part in the gym exhibition held in 1923. She has also made a good showing in basketball, having been a member of the class team in 1920 and 1924.

BEATRICE ROSENBERG

Not only in her studies does Beatrice shine, but in athletics as well. She proved this by entering almost all the athletic meets B. H. S. has had. She was among the first of the enthusiasts to revive Basketball here and has played well in Hockey, '22, '23, '24. She was also a gym captain, and took part in gym exhibitions.

GRACE CROWE

Grace is another of the Senior girls who has taken an active part in athletics. When a Freshman she played Basketball. She enjoyed this sport so much and made such a fine showing as Jump Center that she went out for it again in '23, '24. Grace also contributed her services to the Hockey team in '22, '23. When it came to choosing gym captains, Grace, of course, was one of the first chosen.

CATHERINE ROBERTS

Catherine is another of the girls of Barringer who are lovers of sports. She was active in Basketball and Hockey, and regardless of weather she was always seen ready for action.

ESTHER NEISS

Esther has proved herself to be quite a good athlete in the various sports in which she has participated. She has tried almost all of them—Basketball, '23; Hockey, '22, '23, '24; gym exhibitions, '22, '23, and has been a gym captain '23, '24; and has received her cords.

LOTTIE SOROTSKY

Lottie is one of the most popular girls in Barringer, especially in athletics. During her stay at Barringer she has taken an active part in Hockey, but Basketball seemed her specialty. Accordingly, she was captain of the team this year. Lottie also did good work in gymnasium, having been made gym captain several times. In the athletic meet last spring she took an active part.

ISABEL DUTTON

Throughout her career at Barringer Isabel has been quite a star in athletics. She has been quite active in Hockey, but has centered her interest in basketball, where as side center she aided her team to victory several times.

LEONORA RIZZOLO

Leonora, although she is small, is one of our famous athletes. She has participated in both of our major sports, Basketball and Hockey, besides having been a gym captain. She took part in several of our meets and exhibitions. Moreover, Leonora will probably get her Senior Cord.

How they got through

Struggled
 Worked
 No wonder!
 Just luck
 Stumbled
 Conductorette
 S——S——sh!!
 Couldn't hear her
 Vamped
 Gave 'em the gas
 Carrying six
 Smiled
 Well?
 They overlooked him.
 Tried his best
 Crawled
 Its a gift
 Dad's reputation
 Broke through the line
 "Er, well, you see."
 Catching
 ????????
 Forced his way
 He did
 Battled Shipped
 Was determined
 Knew more than teachers
 Plugged
 Foolish questions
 Through the keyhole
 They pushed him
 Quietly
 Pushed
 After a fashion
 Made too much noise
 Did her work
 Eased through
 Candy to a child
 Accidents happen
 Eventually
 Inaudible
 Miracle
 Ask Mr. Hart
 Had to
 Vamped 'em all
 Earnestly
 Fate was kind
 Eventually (?)
 Plugged
 Determination
 By mistake
 Don't know
 On her nerve

We know
 Looked clever
 Ran
 Was in a hurry
 On her drag
 Boned
 Walked
 Why not?
 On her nerve
 Acted
 Skipped
 Looked wise
 Why ask?
 Unnoticed
 Vamped the teachers
 Nobody knows
 Asked questions
 Did his work
 Danced
 Scientifically
 Strived and succeeded
 Why not?
 Knew it all
 Worked a bit
 O, well———!
 Laughed through
 Nobody knows
 The great question
 Ask the teachers
 Was pulled through
 Knows the teachers

 All fell for him
 Ambitious
 Studied

 Whispered
 Pegged heroically

GOOD DEFINITION

Betty—What is play?

Speiser—A very important business that school interrupts.

Judge (to victim of hold-up)—While you were being relieved of your valuables did you call the police?

Tillou—Yes, your Honor, everything I could think of.

SEE?

The language which we daily use,
Gives many a chance for slips.
Before the ships go on the cruise,
The crews go on the ships.

SLIGHT MISTAKE

Archie drank some water,
But Archie is no more.
For what Archie thought was  $H_2O$
(water)
Was  $H_2SO_4$  (Sulphuric Acid).

Mayer—What nut has no shell?

Pavia—I don't know.

Mayer—A doughnut.

There was a young lady, Miss Paskow
by name,

Who never without her lessons came.

And most every day

Some teacher would say:

"If the others would do but the same!"

You all know our famous Miss Sickles,
Who was once in a terrible pickle.

For the trolley came nigh,

But the step was too high

For the width of the skirt of Miss Sickles.

There was a bright lad named W. P.

Who's as clever as clever can be.

Poetry he could write

Almost any night.

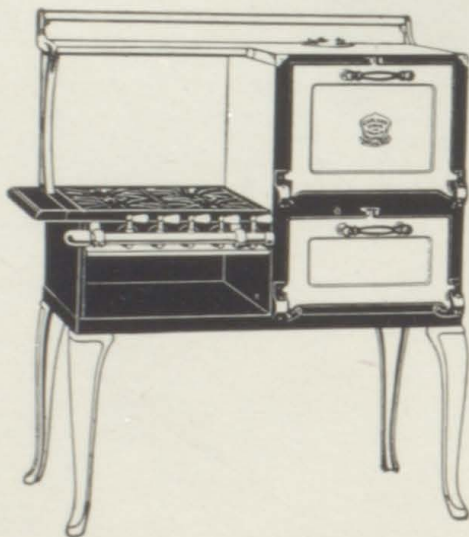

For such a young genius is he.

RATHER STUDIOUS

Miss Sorotsky — "Talk about being studious, I've a cousin who takes up Russian, Greek, Polish, Italian, Hebrew,
French and Spanish.

Esther—How can he do it all?

Lottie—Well, he works on an elevator.

Miss Paskow—What?
Lutz—Generally speaking.

A LOVELY BLUNDER.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said a blundering barrister in a suit about a lot of hogs, "there were just 36 hogs in the drove; please remember that fact—36 hogs—just three times as many as there are in that jury box."

That counsel did not win his case.

Boese—What makes you so small?
Levine—I was raised on condensed milk.

Four Per Cent
Interest on Any Amount

Whether the deposits that you make in the Savings Department of this bank are large or small they will draw four per cent. interest.

That interest will in turn earn more interest and that will earn still more and so on as long as the deposits and the interest are not withdrawn. In this way your money will grow, and in time, double itself.

Decide now to start an account with two dollars or more and to build it up with regular deposits.

Calisabetta—What is hard water?

CAN'T FOOL HIM

Some member of a school board was visiting a school and the teacher was putting the pupils to their paces.

"Who signed the Magna Charta, Robert?" asked one of the members.

"It wasn't I," said the student.

The teacher, in disgust, sent him to his seat. After a pause the inquirer said:

"Call that boy back. I don't like his manner. I believe he did do it."

Harden—Did you ever take chloroform?

Freshie—No, who teaches it?

Lottie—Why do they say cleanliness is next to Godliness?

Esther—Because Saturday is next to Sunday.

COMPTOMETER OPERATORS ALWAYS IN DEMAND

When you are through school and are ready to seek employment in a business office, there are two courses open to you:

1. You can take a routine job with small pay, such as under filing clerk, general helper or office clerk.

2. Or by taking a short course in specialized training, you can fit yourself for real business service in a higher and better paying position.

An eight weeks' course in one of our 100 or more Comptometer Schools lifts you from the inexperienced class and enables you to start as a skilled worker with the higher salary of that class.

Course includes special training in Commercial Arithmetic, under system of Felt & Tarrant Mfg. Co., makers of the Comptometer.

Let Us Help You --

COPYRIGHTING, editing, revision of proofs, type faces, make-up, are a few of the annoying details that make the printing industry a bugaboo to the average business man. But why bother about them? Tell us what you have in mind and we will carry the burden from beginning to end. We'll do the work, and you can supervise.
